

RELEVANT POINTS

1. The first point is that the evidence is not conclusive. It is only a suggestion that the person in question is the perpetrator.

2. The second point is that the evidence is not sufficient to prove the case. It is only a suggestion that the person in question is the perpetrator.

3. The third point is that the evidence is not sufficient to prove the case. It is only a suggestion that the person in question is the perpetrator.

4. The fourth point is that the evidence is not sufficient to prove the case. It is only a suggestion that the person in question is the perpetrator.

5. The fifth point is that the evidence is not sufficient to prove the case. It is only a suggestion that the person in question is the perpetrator.